Next Step Triple Threat

John 13:34-35; 15:12-17; Romans 12:9-13

1. Last week we talked about taking a guy to coffee to get to know him. If anyone did so this week, have him share his story. Who did you invite? Why? What did you talk about? Was it easier or harder than you thought?
2. Why is it hard to engage a man in an “intentional spiritual friendship”? Are some guys easier than others to do this with?
3. If the Great Commandment was to love God with everything you’ve got, and to love your neighbor, why did Jesus give the disciples the New Commandment, to love one another? What are some tangible ways that Jesus and the disciples loved others?
4. The Next Step Triple Threat gives you three ways to continue investing in a man’s life. Which option makes sense for a man you are getting to know?

Next Step Triple Threat: This week, if you haven't already done it, take a man to coffee. To continue that relationship and move it from a casual to an intentional spiritual friendship, make a commitment to offer to pray for a need in the man's life, serve him in a tangible way that he needs and/or provide him with a book that will make him think more clearly about his spiritual life. We want to hear how it goes! Send your testimony either in writing or a cell phone video to patrickmorley@maninthemirror.org
