There's No Such Thing as a Secular Job

John 5:17, Psalm 8, Colossians 3:22-24

1. What are some of the practical implications of a man treating his job as secular? Have you personally thought of work as a) something you have to do so that you can do the things you really want to do, b) who you are, c) a platform to do ministry, or d) part of your personal ministry?
2. What does the Bible say about “a theology of work” that was mentioned today?
3. What have you been ordained to do? Give an example of how this kind of understanding might change how you approach your work and/or the results you might get from it?
